New Renault Twingo Electric, a new Limited Series called Vibes

Renault unveils the Vibes Limited Series

A Limited Series with colourful accents

A new colour: Valencia Orange

More than ever all the Twingo energy

Orders open in France with Twingo Electric from September 2020

While the queen of city is about to become electric, Renault presents a brand-new Limited Series called Vibes. While this Limited Series celebrates the arrival of Twingo Electric, it will also be offered later on in its petrol engines versions. Orders will be open for France from the start of the new academic year in 2020.

Called Vibes, this Limited Series is based on New Twingo Electric's Intens finish and features an exclusive new colour: Valencia Orange. It features a radiator grille with white accents and 16-inch white diamond alloy wheels with orange wheel covers. In keeping with the idea of duality, the Vibe Limited Series is also available in the palette of colors available* on Twingo Electric.

In addition to the possible colour choices, the bodywork is adorned with specific patterns - such as vibrations - composed of several white and grey or orange and grey lines depending on the chosen colour. Two versions of the stripping are available: a "light" version emphasising the edge line along the bodywork, and a "full" version extending to the roof. To underline the fact that Vibes belongs to the electric world, it is enhanced by a specific motif on the right rear wing above the recharging hatch, symbolizing a battery. A Vibes monogram on the rear doors adorns the side protection strips in the image of a belt buckle.

Inside, the dashboard above the display feature the Vibes pattern with colored stripes. The 7-inch EasyLink display allows the driver to check the availability of charging stations in real time and features Google Android Auto & Apple CarPlay smartphone replication. The seats also come in an exclusive finish with mixed leather/cloth upholstery with orange accents. Special door sills, overlay mats and an anodised orange gear selector base complete the package.

except Flame Red and Mango Yellow*
