2017 Frankfurt Motor Show: Renault and Dacia have plenty of surprises in store

- Renault will present the world premiere of New Mégane R.S.
- Renault will unveil its vision of the future in a format never seen before at a motor show.
- Dacia will take the wraps off of the All-New Duster, in a brand new booth more than welcoming than ever.

Paris, September 5, 2017 – Renault is set to unveil the New Mégane R.S. in a world premiere at the 67th Frankfurt Motor Show starting with a press conference on Sept 12. Also revealed that day will be All-New Dacia Duster, along with plenty of other surprises.

Renault: Vision for the future and the all new Megane R.S.

The Frankfurt Motor Show will be the moment for unveiling New Mégane R.S. as the car channels its Renault Sport links with a combination of racy styling and elite performance.

Renault is also due to present its vision for 2030 in an innovative format – a first at any motor show ever!

Renault press conference:

9.50am (CET) on Tuesday, September 12 (hall 8)

Presentation by Thierry Bolloré, Groupe Renault Chief Competitive Officer, with Renault Formula 1 driver and Mégane R.S. technical adviser Nico Hulkenberg, and Laurens van den Acker, Groupe Renault Senior Vice President, Corporate Design.

Dacia: All-New Duster now the new flagship

Dacia's new motorshow stand will take on a festive feel with the customer community and the spotlight on Duster, with its even more attractive new design.

Dacia press conference:

11.10am (CET) on Tuesday, September 12 (hall 8)
Jean-Christophe Kugler, Executive Vice President, Chairman of Europe Region.
