A fifth award for the Renault TREZOR concept car

- Renault TREZOR scoops first place at the Chantilly Arts & Elegance Richard Mille concours d'élégance in France
- The prize takes Renault TREZOR's awards score in 2017 to five
- TREZOR illustrates the thinking behind the design of upcoming RENAULT models

Chantilly, France, September 11, 2017 - Renault TREZOR's styling won, ex-aequo, over new supporters at the weekend when the striking all-electric GT coupé claimed top prize in the Chantilly Arts & Elegance Richard Mille concours d'élégance.

After securing the 'Most Beautiful Concept Car of 2016' award at the 2017 Festival Automobile International, first place in the Villa d'Este concours d'élégance, the Geneva Car Design Awards' '2016 Concept Car of the Year' crown and the 'Design Prize' at this year's Trophées de l'Automobile Magazine, the Chantilly accolade is the fifth trophy to have been won this year by this concept car which embodies Renault's design thinking for the future.

Sunday's award is further evidence of the positive reception TREZOR has received from industry professionals and the motoring public alike.

RENAULT is also proud to have been associated with BALMAIN. The meticulous, edgy creations of this longstanding, trend-setting French fashion house harmoniously complement TREZOR's lines and the spirit that forged its design.
