RENAULT SET TO STAGE THE GLOBAL REVEAL OF NEW MASTER AT THE SOLUTRANS MOTOR SHOW ON 21 NOVEMBER

- Renault will be at the Solutrans motor show in Lyon between the 21st and 25th of November
- New Renault Master will be revealed at a press conference at 10am on the Renault booth
- As part of the event, the entire LCV range will be on show with the brand's new visual identity

Renault enjoys motor shows, and has historic ties with most of them. Solutrans is a case in point. The brand is always present at this event dedicated to haulage and urban mobility, showcasing a range of vehicles and services for business users.

At this year's show, Renault is staging the global reveal of New Renault Master, set to take place at a press conference on its stand, Tuesday the 21st of November at 10am. This conference can be watched on site in Hall 4 or via live streaming.

The entire Renault LCV range will be on display for this event, with all vehicles sporting the brand's new identity and logo. Visitors will be able to view the brand's full LCV range in a display area of over 1,200 m², while also finding out more about the expertise available to businesses.

Daily keynote presentations will provide an insight into the products, services and innovative solutions provided by the brand for business users.

The stand will also include a corner dedicated to HYVIA, where the brand will take advantage of European Hydrogen Week to reveal a new architecture for the Renault Master Van H2-TECH, and another corner for MOBILIZE, showcasing concrete and sustainable solutions for professionals and road and urban transport industry, including Bento, an ultra-compact all-electric minivan.

The brand's partner TOLV will also be present at the show with its own stand. TOLV supplies retrofit kits for converting Master vehicles over 5 years of age to electric power.

Watch the press conference on Tuesday the 21st of November from 10am on the Renault stand or stream it via the following link.
